

SHARE YOUR VALUES. LEAVE YOUR LEGACY.

The Legacy Conversations

Three meaningful conversations about values, generosity, and ways to turn your vision into a lasting legacy.

Join us for a three-part series with other engaged leaders who care deeply about our community as we explore one meaningful question: What do you hope to pass on to future generations?

This series will be an interactive opportunity to reflect on the values that have shaped your life, the stories that define your family, and the impact you want to make in Milwaukee's Jewish community and in the places and causes that matter most to you.

Two of the three conversations will be led by nationally-recognized family legacy facilitator Sharyl Levitt. She will provide a chance to reflect, share ideas, and learn from others who are thinking about their own legacy.

Hosted by JCF Legacy Committee: Nancy Kennedy Barnett, Idy Goodman, Rebecca Guralnick, Susan Angel Miller, Sue Strait

CONVERSATION ONE:

What Matters Most NOVEMBER 5

Reflect on the experiences, people, and lessons that have shaped your life, and consider what you want future generations to carry forward.

CONVERSATION TWO:

Passing Values Across Generations NOVEMBER 17

Discover ways to start meaningful conversations with your partner, children, and grandchildren about generosity, purpose, and the values that matter most to your family.

CONVERSATION THREE:

Creating Lasting Impact DECEMBER 3

Explore ways to put your values into action through charitable tools, with practical guidance from a panel of local financial advisors.

BY INVITATION ONLY

We encourage you to bring your spouse, partner, and/or adult children.

Participation in all three conversations is encouraged so you can build on the ideas and conversations from each session.

Because the most enduring legacy is not measured by what we leave behind, but by what continues because we were here.
